These collections are deposited directly to the Board's Operating Trust Fund. The Board retains the responsibility for collecting other fees. All collections are deposited into a Gainesville bank clearing account authorized by the Department of Administration. The account is cleared each month and a check is forwarded to the State Treasurer in accordance with the provisions of Section 18.101(1), Florida Statutes. The Board is charged ten percent (10%) of all revenue collections (nine percent (9%) to Department of Professional and Occupational Regulation and one percent (1%) to general revenue fund) pursuant to Section 215.37(4), Florida Statutes (1973), for general services received, e.g. issuance of warrants, registration renewal, etc. Fees are charged at rates prescribed by law or established by the Board through regulation under the provisions of law. Programs and Workload Measures

The Board is responsible for regulating the practice of public accounting for the protection of the public. This includes the regulation of those who desire to and who practice public accounting in the State of Florida by: (1) enforcing qualifications for entry, e.g. college graduate, CPA examination, one-year experience and/or additional one-year accounting course and issuance of CPA certificates; and (2) regulating those licensed to practice, e.g. annual registration, reestablishment of professional knowledge and competency, investigations and formal disciplinary proceedings. It also includes preventing those not qualified to practice public accounting from holding out as being so qualified or practicing in the State of Florida. Comparative workload measures follow:

- (1) Thirty-four (34) for failure to pay annual registration fees.
- (2) Ten (10) reciprocals for nonresidence or nonpublic practice.
- (3) Thirty (30) for failure to pay annual registration fees.
- (4) This figure has been adjusted due to the fact the Board now issues one (1) permit per engagement, however, the fee is still $10 per person. There were 555 permits issued during 1974-75.
- (5) Includes one (1)-disciplinary, seven (7)-by request, sixty-one (61)-nonpayment of fee.

As can be seen for review of the above, the Board's activities are numerous and increasing. It is expected that enforcement efforts will be expanded. The Board initiated a new program this year - the CPA Examination Critique. This enables CPA examination candidates to obtain copies of their own answer papers as well as copies of the unofficial AICPA questions and answers. They then attend a review session where a qualified instructor discusses the unofficial answers, as well as other aspects of the examination.

Investigations made during the year demonstrate that many certified public accountants have not striven to improve their competence nor observed the profession's more recently definitive technical standards. These certified public accountants were not familiar enough with, nor did they sufficiently understand, generally accepted auditing standards or generally accepted accounting principles. The Board will use all legal means to seek out, investigate and appropriately discipline certified public accountants who do not meet and follow the standards and principles of the profession since these certified public accountants both discredit the profession and act contrary to the public interest.

New and/or Amended Regulations

All regulations must be, and are, adopted pursuant to statutory authority. During the 1974-75 fiscal year the Board's primary efforts have been with respect to re-drafting rules, Chapters 21A-1 - 7, the purpose of which was to conform Board rules with the AICPA Restated Code except where conflict existed with Florida Accountancy Law. The Board also redefined a major in accounting, the additional one-year accounting course acceptable in lieu of one-year of employment, amended certain continuing education rules, set forth the guidelines for the preparation of financial statements by persons other than practitioners, and revised the guidelines regarding certificates including special permits and reciprocal certificates. In addition, the Board adopted Chapter 21A-16 to implement the Foreign Licensure Bill.
